RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

PINOT NOIR

The 2023 vintage embodies the classic elegance of the Russian River Valley, shaped by a unique growing season that combined patience with precision. A cool, wet winter brought much-needed rainfall, setting the stage for a longer growing season. Ripening was delayed, but the extended hang time allowed for steady, balanced maturation. Harvest began on September 15 at our Last Stop estate vineyard in Forestville and concluded on October 11 in the Sebastopol Hills.

The 2023 Russian River Valley Pinot Noir is marked by complex aromas of ripe black cherry, cola and violets. On the palate, it reveals a rich, creamy texture with layered flavors that unfold gracefully. Fresh, balanced acidity lifts the wine, providing a vibrant counterpoint to its depth. The finish is long, smooth and elegant, showcasing the care taken in both vineyard and cellar.

A wine of exceptional quality and refinement, this Pinot Noir from the Russian River Valley is a perfect reflection of the season's cool conditions and meticulous harvest. Ready to enjoy now, it will continue to evolve and impress over time.
